

Stallion Licensing - Pondhead Bracken

Due to the breeding given by the Breeders at the time of registration being proven incorrect by DNA sire verification, Pondhead Bracken has been moved to the part bred section of the stud book.

In order to prevent this situation from occurring in the future, all Colts will now not be considered fully licensed until the DNA profile has been analysed and returned and the breeding given at time of registration, verified. When this has happened the Colt will then be issued with a license number and stallion status and be licensed to cover until due its five year old veterinary examination.

No Colt will be allowed to cover until this procedure has been correctly completed.

The Futurity colts will now also have to have their breeding verified at the time of acceptance into the scheme. The colts that are in the scheme at present, will be tested as soon as possible. Should there be any anomalies with the DNA that show the colt is not bred as registered, it will be removed from the scheme immediately.
