Colt foals can be shown loose with their dams.

Their application for pure bred registration must be at least applied for at the NFPBCS office by the time of inspection.

Colt foals will be judged by three society judges.

Colts who achieve the pass mark and are selected by the Futurity committee, will receive £250 towards winter keep, if they attend the Stallion Passing/Inspections at Beaulieu Road the following April 2026. At which time they will be judged again by three judges. The successful yearling colts will then hopefully be offered grazing until the following April 2027. If grazing is not available, the colt owner will be paid a contribution to keeping them at home.

When the selected colt comes forward as a two-year-old and passes its grading and veterinary inspection, it will receive a further £250. At this point no more grazing or financial help towards its keep is given.

When futurity colts reach five years old and gain their final Stallion licence, they will receive a final payment of £250 if they have had at least five fully registered progeny.
